

Renee Scudder

Speaker

Enhance Your Impact as a High-Performing, Multidimensional Leader

Trainer. Speaker. Executive. With more than 20 years in senior management positions and a deep educational background, Renee Scudder brings a distinctive vantage point to her highly engaging and motivational leadership presentations.

Renee believes being a leader is a great honor and an even greater responsibility. In today's complicated times, that responsibility has been magnified. More than ever, we need truly exceptional leaders.

As the President of Inspire Leadership LLC, Renee created the Inspire Leadership Program, a new paradigm of leadership that values respect, trust, and collaboration as much as achievement and innovation. It is an evidence-based framework for helping individuals become high-performing, multidimensional leaders.

During her interactive presentations, Renee provides the tools you need to develop and elevate your leadership skills. You'll walk away having super-charged your existing skills and learned new, actionable techniques to help you be a better, more effective leader.

How do you reach Renee? There are a few options.

Email her directly at renee@reneescudder.com or

Fill out a contact form through her website: Contact Form

Renee understands the joys and challenges of being a corporate leader. Her expertise is steeped in her corporate experience in business strategy, business development, and consulting, where she honed strategic-thinking, communication, and management skills. Renee has held professional roles ranging from chief strategy officer at the Northbridge Companies and CEO of Scudder Advisors, to consultant with the Hay Group, where she worked with industry executives in a variety of industries, including insurance (State Farm), automotive (Toyota), and technology (IBM).

Renee combines her professional leadership experience with deep education and training. She holds an MS in communications management from Simmons University in Boston and a certificate in strategic marketing management from the Stanford Graduate School of Business. She has been an adjunct instructor at the University of San Francisco School of Management and Dominican University of California's Barowsky School of Business.

She is a professional member of the National Speakers Association (NSA), a board member of the New England Chapter of the National Speakers Association (NSA NE), and a Modern Classroom Certified Trainer (MCCT). She is accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB) International, and she is a past president of the San Francisco chapter of the National Association of Professional Women.

Renee has a deep love of teaching, and she firmly believes leadership is an acquirable skill. No matter your leadership style, experience, or ability, you can heighten your knowledge and enhance your impact as a high-performing, multidimensional leader. An energetic and inspirational trainer and speaker, Renee will show you how.